Duncan Satin Glazes

Satin Glazes are so named because of their soft, muted sheen. They move very little during firing, which makes them ideally suited for creative design work and controlled glazing techniques. All Satin Glazes are nontoxic, overglaze compatible and safe for use on food containers.

Duncan Concept Underglazes

Underglazes

Concepts are underglazes for use on bisque. Can be used with or without clear glaze. These glazes represent a new generation in fired color. Versatility and ease of use make them ideal for both the casual ceramicist and professional alike. One stroke allows for translucent design work. Three strokes provide solid coverage. Concepts can be used with a variety of decorating techniques. Offered in a balanced palette of compatible hues for ease of color selection.

Underglazes

Duncan E-Z Stroke Underglazes

E-Z Strokes have become popular because of their versatility. Their translucent quality makes them suitable for use with a number of decorating techniques including airbrushing, antiquing, and brushwork. One stroke is all you need for most design work. One or two additional strokes may be added for depth and shading while the color is still wet. E-Z Strokes may be applied over most underglazes, including Cover-Coats and other E-Z Strokes colors, allowing the base color to show through. They may also be used to tint slip, most glazes, and other E-Z stroke colors. E-Z Strokes fire from cone 06 to cone 6.

Underglazes

AMACO Velvet Underglazes

AMACO Velvet semi-translucent underglazes offer two finish possibilities. When left unglazed, they have the appearance of velour or velvet. They will assume a soft satin matte finish when glazed with a transparent matte glaze and will intensify when covered with a transparent gloss glaze.

Dry Glaze Tip

Bill Kaplan

Operations Manager

Dry glazes are less expensive and more versatile than liquid glazes. They can be easily adjusted for different application methods, whether it be dipping, spraying, or brushing.

We have a free fact sheet available to help you achieve excellent results.
